COLLEGE SONG

On the heights so proudly standing
Strong against the blue,
High her tower gleams commanding,
Loyal hearts beat true!
For Manhattanville, sing proudly,
Swell the mighty song;
'Till the echoes ring out loudly
All the ages long.

LAURETTA BREMNER '29

SENIOR CLASS

SENIOR CLASS SONG

Our hearts sing, praises ring,
For Manhattanville;
Dear to us, near to us—
"College on the hill."
Class of Thirty-six, rejoice,
Hold your banners high;
To loyalty and love give voice—
Our song will never die.
In friendships found, joys abound,
And they always will:
What you gave, we will save—
Live, Manhattanville!
Live, Manhattanville!

HELENE C. AUSPITZER, E. de M.

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Eden Hall, Torresdale, Pennsylvania

genial . . . genuine . . . gleeful

There is a wholesomeness about Helene that attracts everyone. Her ever-readiness to enjoy a joke, her charming grin, and her quick wit make her a companion of rare quality. She faces life with a giggle, yet beneath all her love of fun are firm reasoning and good common sense. Helene is not one to be easily diverted from her course, and her determination makes us sure that her future will be a bright one.

GERTRUDE BARRETT

Convent of the Sacred Heart
Sheridan Road, Evanston, Illinois

poised . . . popular . . . pithy

Gertie came to Manhattanville last year as a Junior, and it wasn't long before we discovered beneath her cool poise an unmatched wit. With Gertie, we are sure of hearty laughter, clever charm and a willing partner in any undertaking. Her ease of manner and gracious dignity have attracted us all. It is a dignity that never deserts her, no matter what the circumstances, for Gertie possesses real nonchalance. Her artistic ability, the opposite of her calm temperament, has been evidenced not only in her work for the Thumb Tack Club, but in her discriminating taste and fine sensibilities.

NANCY BREMNER, E. de M.

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Noroton-on-the-Sound, Connecticut

funny . . . frolicsome . . . friendly

Under a jovial, jesting manner, Nancy conceals many fine qualities. There is a tenderness in her banter, sincerity in her laugh, and warmth in her nature. She tosses life off with a joke and a smile, but underneath there is a sound understanding, a true sense of values. Everything she puts her hand to is well and thoroughly done. Witness her presidency of the Missionary Association this year. An unfailing source of fun to her friends, Nancy finds the remedy for all troubles in a happy laugh that is the outward sign of a strong and gentle nature.

Thumb Tack Club '33, '34, '35, '36.

NATALIE BRISLIN, E. de M.
Convent of the Sacred Heart
Madison Avenue, New York

winsome . . . winning . . . wise

Under a reserved and retiring manner, Natalie's charm and her brilliant mind have not passed unnoticed. With a quiet smile, she is content to be a spectator of life. One seldom hears her speak, yet when she does whatever she says is worth hearing. Her observations display a keen knowledge of people, and she possesses an instinctive insight into human nature. Like all quiet people, Natalie wins everyone to her by the very reserve with which she would escape notice.

KATHERINE F. BURKE, E. de M.

Washington Irving High School

Tarrytown, New York

earnest . . . eager . . . elated

Childlike and sincere, a dreamer of the ideal, Kay is one who has clearly traced the path to future happiness, and will, we know, attain her goal. Throughout her college days, those who have known Kay intimately realize and appreciate the truly precious gift of her friendship. We love her for her unfailing interest, we admire her for her steadfast loyalty, and we respect her for that strong determination with which she is sure to wrest from life those things she most desires.

LOUISA BYLES, E. de M.
Convent of the Sacred Heart
Maplehurst, New York

intrepid . . . intellectual . . . individual

Fancy the fierceness of a crusader clothed in the gentility of a princess, and you have a quick sketch of Louisa's personality. A few minutes' talk with her on anything from Mussolini to muscles will reveal this stimulating combination. Add a dash of originality so often exhibited in college frolics, a generous measure of spirited loyalty, a refreshing lack of affectation, and the picture is quite complete.

BETTY CALLAHAN, E. de M.

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Kenwood, Albany, New York

bantering . . . breezy . . . buoyant

It is fun to be with Betty. Her love of a good time is contagious, and there are no spoil sports when she is around. The teasing pal that the entire college knows is also a very steady friend. She is generous almost to a fault, and her generosity proves itself not only in big things but in little thoughtful acts. Betty is a natural leader, and her sterling characteristics make her outstanding wherever she goes. Carefree, yet determined; teasing, yet sympathetic, Betty has a joke and a laugh and a warm heart with which to face the world.

CLAIRE CAUGHLAN

Academy of St. Joseph

Brentwood, New Jersey

dry . . . diverse . . . deft

Claire accomplishes all her duties with ease and quiet efficiency, and those duties here at college have been neither few nor light. She is an able and serious worker in all fields, but she is outstanding in debating and dramatics, where her ability has shown itself to be of the highest quality. Her dry humor and her knack of telling a story make her extremely popular wherever she goes. Claire is one who is bigger than her job and she can toss off her work with a clever word and a ready laugh.

IMELDA CHOQUETTE, E. de M.

Adams High School

Adams, Massachusetts

quaint . . . quick . . . quizzical

Versatility is often a disturbing gift, but with Imelda it is an asset. For she possesses a rare power, characteristic of poet and philosopher, of mingling many talents into one pleasing harmony. That explains the paradox that has confronted us for four years, how the scholar extraordinaire and the "life of the party" could be all rolled into one. Not only has Imelda survived after translating that abstruse tome of M. Maritain, "La Petite Logique," but she has preserved her exquisite delight in the absurd, and a sufficient gusto to render us anything from a frivolous French ditty to our favorite aria from "Rigoletto." She can quiet the raging pacifist with an epithet—we have heard her do it—and charm us all with her "wuffling."

MADELINE C. COTTER

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Washington, D. C.

friendly . . . finished . . . fascinating

Madge either goes down the hall in a complete state of excitement, and carries everything before her in a whirlwind, or she strolls by, the essence of savoir faire and cool sophistication. One is never quite sure what to expect, for Madge's moods are varied, but one thing is certain, they are always charming. Her friendly smile is impossible to resist, for it implies deep understanding and sympathy. Madge's loyalty is a sterling quality, and she possesses an innate love of all that is fine. She looks to the heights, and her poised view of the world has a very warm heart guiding it.

MARY ELLEN CULLEN, E. de M.

Father Young Memorial High School

New York, New York

alert . . . affable . . . acute

In Mary we have found the pleasing combination of the idealist and the realist. She has pursued her college career with intelligence and industry, accompanied by a delightful and infectious gaiety. She has a singular ability for mastering French, and seems to have absorbed the vivacity and clear-sightedness so typical of that nation. Mary meets all situations with an inner serenity and an outward eagerness. We admire her for her outstanding characteristics of sweetness and tact—for her soothing gentleness.

MARY ELIZABETH CUNEEN, E. de M.

St. Lawrence Academy

New York, New York

brilliant . . . balanced . . . bland

Tall and dark, with an easy manner and pleasant smile, Mary Elizabeth has the happy faculty of making friends. People warm to her immediately because she is always ready to meet them more than halfway. She has a happy-go-lucky air that allows little to disturb her. Her conversation scintillates, and she is an intriguing story-teller. This side of her nature blends with the systematic, well-trained mind of the scientist to make her temperament even and her personality vital.

HELEN CUSICK, E. de M.

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Eden Hall, Torresdale, Pennsylvania

sane . . . splendid . . . spirited

Helen is one of those people whom one immediately terms "straight." She is direct in speech, yet she combines sympathy and tact with her frankness, a rare accomplishment. She is deeply loyal, and we can always count on Helen's cooperation. She has an interest in all that goes on around her, and this interest in life and in people is what so endears her to us. A keen sense of humor together with a systematic thoroughness makes Helen good fun as well as a mainstay in life at Manhattanville.

MARGUERITE DELONE, E. de M.

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Overbrook, Pennsylvania

sincere . . . sporting . . . staunch

Naturally quiet and reserved, Margie is nevertheless a vibrant personality. Her clear, straight way of thinking and her definite and wise opinions make her outstanding. Always dependable, she is ever ready to be of service to anyone. It is impossible to think of Margie and not recall her remarkable ability in athletics. It is more than ability, it is genius. For four years, no Manhattanville varsity was complete without her, and her playing was as brilliant as it was reliable. While our varsities will look long for someone to replace Margie, it is not because of hockey or basketball that we will miss her most. Her generous spirit, her shining sincerity, and her love of fun have made her a vital part of the college, and no one can take her place.

ANITA FIGUEREDO

Southern Seminary

Buena Vista, Virginia

petite . . . piquant . . . persistent

The harder Anita works, the bigger is her smile. She may have a thirty-hour schedule, but no one would ever know it from her expression. And it isn't because she loves work, but simply because nothing ever seems to "get her down." She is an ardent person with a keen interest in all that goes on around her, and her perseverance carries her through all things with ease. Anita is staunch in her beliefs and upholds them with strong conviction and determination. Her lively mind is always searching for new fields, and all this boundless energy is contained in a small and utterly charming person.

DORA GALLAGHER, E. de M.

St. Francis Xavier Academy

Brooklyn, New York

gracious . . . gay . . . gallant

Art and experience must have joined hands in giving us Dora. For in her we find the creative power of the artist and the practical perspicacity of the executive. The combination is arresting, and, no doubt, accounts for the sustained success with which Dora, as President of Student Government, has led the college. A demerit from her comes as close to being a pleasure as possible, and this is a significant fact. Dora's way is a charming one, a sincere and gracious way that has completely captivated our admiration and affection.

CATHERINE HARVEY, E. de M.

St. Joseph's Academy

Portland, Maine

determined . . . distinctive . . . disarming

We will always see Kay as an enthusiastic individual, eager to contribute her share to the general fun, and one who always displays a deep interest in all the varied activities of college life. Kay has a certain dignity and reserve before those who do not know her, and gives the impression of being distant. But behind her expressive brown eyes, one finds a sympathetic listener. Her frankness is refreshing. Kay is forthright, always searching for life's opportunities. She is not one who is easily daunted, and she will make the most of all that is offered her.

ANNE MAURY HILL, E. de M.

Collegiate School for Girls

Richmond, Virginia

languid . . . loquacious . . . leisurely

With a quick smile, a twinkling eye, and a witty remark, Anne goes through life taking what she wants in her own charming way. Vivacious, happy-go-lucky, living for the day, she has the ability to make lasting friendships. Her outspoken nature mingled with a charm of manner that is difficult to define makes her a companion of unfailing interest. Her lovely deep-throated voice and attractive smile will be missed by all who have come to know Anne during her stay in the North.

Pitch Pipe Club '35, '36; Glee Club '35, '36; Club Espanol '35, '36.

MARGERY HOPKINS

Manuel High School

Brooklyn, New York

jovial . . . jaunty . . . just

In Margery, a puck-like personality is combined with the persistence of a good student. The strain of practicality in her nature is almost overshadowed by the carefree and jaunty air that is so much a part of her. Tiny, with twinkling eyes and a mischievous grin, she appreciates the humor in any situation. This sunniness of disposition is not a mood that comes and goes, but is ever present. There is never a cloud in view when Margery is around.

MARY JOSEPHINE HOULIHAN,
E. de M.

St. Mary's Academy
Ogdensburg, New York

sagacious . . . sympathetic . . . sincere

Since her arrival at Manhattanville Mary Jo has quietly gone about winning highest honors with the simplicity that is born of true wisdom. Gentleness of manner and a startling clarity of mind have gained the affection and admiration of all. Her duties as president of Catholic Action have been carried through with the thoroughness that is so typical of Mary Jo. She fulfills all her offices with the ease and ability of which few are capable, while her sincerity and gentleness have won for her many devoted friends.

CLAIRE M. HOWE, E. de M.
George Washington High School
New York, New York

laughing . . . lively . . . logical

Claire is full of animation. It is stimulating just to watch her talk. A brilliant student, she is outstanding as a French scholar, and though she has spent but one year in the Dramatic Club, she has proved her histrionic ability in the productions of the "Cercle," which is a real accomplishment, because to act well in a foreign language is an extremely difficult feat. But this astute French scholar can cavort like a mischievous elf at times. Always eager and ready to laugh, Claire has a vibrant interest in life that is contagious.

EUNICE HOWLEY, E. de M.

Walten High School

New York, New York

cool . . . cordial . . . cosmopolitan

Eunice's verve and invigorating dash are accompanied by an enviable combination of chic and regal poise. No one ever foregoes the opportunity of listening to "Eunnie's" anecdotes, to her numerous "trials and tribulations," and to her varied and unique experiences. But underneath these attractive qualities of the born conversationalist, there are more significant characteristics. There is a deep sincerity, a constancy and a sympathetic understanding that make Eunice beloved wherever she goes.

VIRGINIA MAY HOY

Huntington High School

Huntington, West Virginia

charming . . . capricious . . . casual

Ginny May is tall, very dignified, and cool looking. But looks are deceiving. She is anything but cold and reserved. She has a glowing personality and a grand sense of humor that delight all who know her. Ginny entered the portals of Manhattanville this year, and in a short time was an integral part of the Senior Class, beloved for her gay charm. Wherever she goes, she leaves a trail of laughter behind her, and we are sorry that her stay with us has been so short.

MARION HURLEY, E. de M.

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Elmhurst, Rhode Island

gentle . . . grave . . . glowing

The twinkle in her eye betrayed Marion to Manhattanville four years ago, and we are still responding to her special brand of wit . . . a rare delectable brand that is elusive, fanciful, and pertinent, and we wonder how we are going to get along without it. She is a combination, in her inimitable calm way, of the qualities we most admire. She knows how to work and how to play, and she does both with a gentleness of manner that is captivating. There is about her a certain cool dignity and quiet reserve which add to the charm that is so definitely . . . Marion.

CATHERINE ILLYNE

Father Young Memorial High School
New York, New York

charming . . . calm . . . considerate

Catherine is the epitome of aristocratic calm. Regal in bearing, classic as to features, she is the possessor of a matchless poise. Her very definite opinions and thoughts are protected by a cool and almost diffident outlook on life. With her friends she displays a warmth of spirit and an enthusiasm that is infectious. Her gentleness constitutes her particular charm, and she may truly be called a gentlewoman, with all the fineness that is implied in the term.

EMMA ROWENA JOY, E. de M.

Colegio del Sagrado Corazón

Santurce, Puerto Rico

effervescent . . . emotional . . . emphatic

Emma's name is truly suited to her . . . for joy seems to express her whole being. She has a warmth of spirit and a joie de vivre that are irrepressible. The debating club will long remember her persuasive arguments accompanied by eloquent gestures, flashing eyes and a dauntless air. Emma enters into everything with a zest that is matchless. Her boundless enthusiasm for life in all its phases makes her a vibrant and delightful personality.

MARY ALICE KELLY, E. de M.

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Kenwood, Albany, New York

delicious . . . devoted . . . dear

Always bright and cheery, Fudge hurries around helping other people in both big and little ways. We seldom see her without a twinkle in her eye, and we can always count on her to keep the conversation lively. Everyone will agree that it is fun to be with her. With all this gaiety, Fudge is capable and efficient, for she is one of those lucky people who combine a gift for laughter and a capacity for hard work. Fudge will long be remembered for her ability to enjoy life to the full and to make her friends enjoy it with her.

MARY KOPPEL, E. de M.
Convent of the Sacred Heart
Kenwood, Albany, New York

candid . . . clever . . . colorful

Mary is a source of inspiration to many at Manhattanville. She is an earnest and eager participant in any field, and her interests are limited only by the limitations of time. Her brilliance as a relentless debater, an interesting public speaker, and an able linguist finds a worthy complement in the unusual coloring of her classic features. Beneath her charming poise lies an impish sense of humor that makes us sure her way through life will never be dull.

PEGGY KRULL, E. de M.
Convent of the Sacred Heart
Overbrook, Pennsylvania

droll . . . diplomatic . . . dependable

There is a calmness about Peggy which is, oddly enough, both stimulating and soothing. She accepts life with an ease that is enviable, but her calm is not a passive thing. It is that active power which she has evinced with singular dexterity not only in athletics but in every activity she pursues. Peggy's word is as impeccable as her French accent; her sense of the ridiculous, très soignée. Always interested and thoughtful, Peggy is a clever and amusing companion. The harmonious blending of these qualities makes Peggy an appealing person, and one who possesses the ability of doing what she sets out to do.

HELEN KUNKEL

Mount St. Agnes Academy

Mount Washington, Maryland

forceful . . . frank . . . fluent

A blonde, vivacious girl with a husky voice, sympathetic manner, and flashing eyes was our first impression of Helen when she entered the Senior class this year. Nor was the element of time a necessary factor in discovering that behind her charming smile were ingenious and worthwhile opinions. She has an unlimited amount of joie de vivre that has won her many friends in the short time she has been with us. Helen is always ready with an apt remark to clinch the argument in any discussion, and her genuine sincerity is only one of the many fine characteristics that have gained for her our lasting friendship.

sterling . . . steadfast . . . sunny

There is a quiet charm about Ruth that has made her very dear to Manhattanville. We shall not easily forget the sincere friendliness that so truly characterizes her, nor the directness and clarity of thought so apparent in everything that she does. She has an intelligent sense of humor which enables her to enjoy fun of all kinds keenly and wholeheartedly. It has been grand knowing Ruth, for she is "true blue" in every sense of the word.

RITA McCANN, E. de M.
Convent of the Sacred Heart
Kenwood, Albany, New York

loyal . . . level . . . lovable

Rita's qualities are of the highest. Loyal, friendly and ever ready to do a service, she pursues her own quiet way, enjoying people and making true friends wherever she goes. She is one who is content in the background of life, watching the world about her. This has given her an understanding that is rich and full. Few really know Rita, but those who do become deeply attached to her, because of her quick sympathy and steadfast loyalty.

ROSEMARY McCANN, E. de M.

Convent of The Sacred Heart

Noroton-on-the-Sound, Connecticut

dynamic . . . decisive . . . dauntless

With a keen intelligence, a sparkling personality, and a friendly air, Rosie stands out at Manhattanville as a girl who knows her own mind and will not be dismayed. Her friendship is made up of those rare qualities of steadfastness and sympathy that constitute the real meaning of the word. Ability, endurance and foresight have been marked in everything she has undertaken. Her vivacity is a particularly engaging quality which makes Rosie a delightful companion, while her sincerity and loyalty make her an ideal friend.

MARGARET McCARTHY
E. de M.

St. Mary's Academy
Ogdensburg, New York

naive . . . natural . . . nimble

"Smile, it could be worse." These words hang outside Margaret's door, and they seem to convey her character better than any other phrase. Her cheery countenance and ability to enjoy life with a youthful zest are endearing qualities. The serious side of her nature is shown in her unfailing sympathy and interest in all the problems of her friends. We hope that "Mar" will, like the famous Peter, retain the simplicity and joy in life that constitute her own particular charm.

MARY McGOLDRICK, E. de M.

St. Angela Hall Academy

Brooklyn, New York

resourceful . . . reflective . . . reserved

One would never think on casual observance that Mary could be the cause of almost hysterical mirth. A quiet demeanor, combined with irrepressible humor and quick intelligence, make her an ideal friend. Loyal, and with a mind of her own, she can always be depended upon to voice an honest opinion, and to stand up for what she thinks is right. For such a small person, Mary possesses inestimable strength of mind and character. She takes life seriously, but in exactly the right degree. The sparkle in her eyes invariably glistens when things become tense, and that sparkle means, of course, that Mary is going to make one of her priceless and inimitable remarks.

ANNE MARIE McPARTLAND,
E. de M.

Academy of Our Lady of Lourdes

New York, New York

frank . . . fervent . . . fearless

Anne Marie is distinguished by an openness and frankness of nature that is delightful. Thoughtfulness and generosity are outstanding elements of her character. She is always ready to help someone, for her kindness is unlimited. Her opinions are refreshing, and her comments, given in her quiet drawling manner, are always original and amusing. She displays a singular interest in everything and has entered into all the various phases of college life with spirit and enthusiasm.

ALICE MEENAN, E. de M.

St. Agnes Academy

Rockville Centre, Long Island, New York

warm . . . whimsical . . . witty

There is an air of welcome about Alice that touches all those who meet the genial warmth of her smile and the friendly sparkle of her eyes. She is genuinely interested in everyone she knows—a quality that is continually winning her more friends. A calm dignity belies her love of fun, and her spontaneous laughter breaks through a very poised exterior. Alice is mellow; graciousness and calm reserve are combined with a quiet humor and a happy heart.

DOROTHY B. MONAGHAN,
E. de M.

Academy of Our Lady of Lourdes
New York, New York

impetuous . . . irrepressible . . . independent

Dorothy is one of those sincerely happy people whose gaiety is of the sort that touches everyone and everything about her. She is charmingly casual in a manner that belies her innate conscientiousness. Her wide-eyed demeanor and seeming naiveté have an instant appeal. Yet Dorothy can be called on in an emergency, and found to be a willing and competent aid. Whoever works with her finds her buoyant spirits infectious, and we can be sure of cheerfulness and vivacity whenever she is around.

MARY K. MOONEY, E. de M.

Durfee High School

Fall River, Massachusetts

tranquil . . . thoughtful . . . thorough

Mary Mooney is one of those people who are full of surprises. The longer you know her, the more is her charm felt by you. A keen and irrepressible sense of humor lurks behind those quiet dark eyes. Her gestures are typical of her character—strong and straight. Logical and patient, she waits her turn to voice her opinions, and her clearness of thought is too apparent to deny. Mary is always very much aware of all that goes on around her, and more than that, she is interested in all.

Convent of the Sacred Heart

Maplehurst, New York

direct . . . debonair . . . delightful

Cheerfulness is Marion's keynote. One seldom sees her when she isn't laughing or smiling at some story or incident that delights her. It is her perfect balance and fine common sense that enable Marion to find instinctively the humorous side to everything—and yet, her cheerfulness is never out of place. Her laughing friendliness has a deep sincerity to it, and is extended to all who come within her sphere. It has been fun knowing Marion with her keen wit and quick smile.

keen . . . kind . . . knowing

Ruth has a quiet earnestness about her that spells sincerity. It is the outward expression of her zeal for philosophy. Above all else, we feel that here is a girl who must know the reason why. Aside from discussing the "whatness" of things, Ruth has a singular capacity for enjoying the "goodness" of things in every meaning of the term. She is as much at ease at the dinner table, laughing over the incidents of the day, as she is in discussing Aristotle. Ruth will always have a healthy zest for life because she can enter into both its humorous and its serious sides.

vivacious . . . versatile . . . voluble

Here we have the girl who can carry a French major and two heavy offices with a jaunty air. Despite a ceaseless stream of chatter, Sully gets things done, and they are done well. Her athletic activities have made her one of Manhattanville's stars, and no presentation of the Dramatic Club is complete without her. Never at a loss, Sully manages all her duties with ease. Her energy is boundless, and there are no limits to the work she will undertake. There is a steady, relentless drive to Sully that carries her to the end she is seeking and makes her personality a dynamic one.

Waterbury, Connecticut

ingenious . . . impulsive . . . interesting

To most of us Betsy's personality will ever be clothed in mystery—the mystery of poetry. She has the poet's virile imagination, his refreshing manner of expression. If you don't believe us, dip into the Essay sometime, or come to a Catholic Action Forum when Betsy is in full swing. Her uncommon, if not uncanny, penetration into the characters of her associates and her unobtrusive kindness make Betsy a most engaging companion. And if, as someone remarked, a man's genius is measured by the aptness of his metaphors, we hail Betsy as the genius of '36.

aainty . . . demure . . . diligent

Katherine Ann has a marvelous gift of adaptability. In class she is earnest and efficient, but once outside, she immediately drops the studious aspect and becomes a clever and amusing companion. She has a grace and charm of manner that are constantly appealing, and make her a delightful friend. A brilliant French scholar, Katherine Ann has the versatility of the true linguist. And though we enjoyed the beguiling comedienne of "Seven Women" and "Les Dames aux Chapeaux Verts," it is as the lovely "Elizabeth" that we will long remember her.

tenacious . . . talented . . . true

As a worshipper of beauty, Peggy lives and thinks art, and she has welded to it her own sound philosophy of life. Discriminating taste and unflinching honesty of mind make her an artistic and literary critic of singular excellence, as has been clearly evidenced by the results of her work for the Essay and Thumb Tack Club. Perhaps it is her extraordinary sense of values that makes of Peggy the dreamer, an executive, and a natural leader. A gentle serious manner clothes a mind that is unique both for its originality and its humor. Peggy's love of the better things will carry her far, even as it has endeared her to Manhattanville.

THE SENIOR CLASS

THE Senior activities began in October with their Hallowe'en party. The college was entertained by a grotesquely costumed group of characters representing the various members of the League of Nations. The sketch was held in the Benziger Building, although, at the time, a strange enchantment transported us to the grim domain of Pluto, where we reveled in the futile continued dispute of the nations. "Ma Mère's" reception again brought the Seniors into the college limelight, as they proudly performed their duties as hostesses for their beloved warden. The other classes joined with them in paying tribute to Mother Lecroix, who was honored by France for her work in education. M. Maritain, as the representative of the French Government, conferred on her the honor of "Officier d'Academie," and the reception was a brilliant success.

For four years the class of '36 has won the hockey cup, despite the valiant efforts on the part of their competitors to wrest the title from them. At last the other classes will have a chance for that cherished cup.

It is natural that every senior class at the glory hour of its departure should receive reluctant goodbyes, and leave behind it lasting memories. However, we do not believe that we overestimate when we say that it will be long before there is another class quite like that of '36. They have consistently excelled in every field of college endeavor. We could not fail to notice their unusual capacity for both work and play, infused by their characteristic "winning spirit" in this, their last year at college.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

WE, as Juniors, felt early in the year the newly acquired dignity of cap and gown. We were upper classmen and the protectionist instinct towards the Freshmen was strong. We rescued our sister class from the terrors of hazing, and officially welcomed them into the college at a tea, given in the Benziger Building. Under the softening influence of cocoa and muffins, all formality was swept away, and the two classes were soon chatting as old friends.

With a reputation for giving "good" entertainments, every one set to work to retain that name. The enthusiastic reception of "A Night With the Immortals" assured us that our efforts were highly successful, and this success in the dramatic field was complemented by the refreshments served in the gymnasium.

The hockey season did not add to our renown in athletics. We lost to Seniors, Sophomores and Freshmen, but we hope to erase that blot on our record by keeping the Basketball Cup that we won last year, after a long struggle. As the Tower goes to press, our hope and determination are strong.

Proudly our voices we raise

In love and loyal praise;

Ever standing firm and true,

Manhattanville, we fight for you.

Whether you ask things great or small,

Dear '38 will give you them all,

While each loyal heart is striving

Onward to nobler goals.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

I N their usual high spirits, augmented by the fact that they were really Sophomores, the Class of '38 began the year with a clever and amusing (though not for the Freshmen) hazing. After the initiation, always fun and never very drastic, the Sophomores settled into the regular college routine. But the class is not one to stay quiet for long, and in a little while, they had again proved their capacity for the unusual in their entertainment for the college. Their presentation of "Adjusting the Unadjusted Girl," from the versatile and original pen of Toto Clarke, set the college into roars of appreciative laughter.

The Sophomores again showed their fighting prowess in the athletic field, and were not daunted by an unsuccessful season in the inter-class hockey games. They were victorious in only one of the three games, defeating the Juniors with their superior attacking force. We know they are looking forward with great hopes to the basketball games, and we wish them luck, not only in athletics, but in everything that they do, because the Class of '38 are carrying on the traditions of Manhattanville in all fields with flying colors.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

THIS year's Freshman Class came gaily through the traditional terrors of hazing week. The proverbial "feather in her hat" stood stiff (and rather mischievously), defying the dogged persistence of Sophomoric hazing tactics. With the advent of the Junior Tea, we welcomed them, and their spirit of "bon courage" was gladly made an integral part of the College.

With the election of their officers, Pamela Tucker, President, and Mary Virginia Sheehan, Vice-President, the class quickly formed itself into a closely knit unit—and we are confident that the strength of their unity will remain steady throughout their four years at Manhattanville.

The Freshmen proved their ability to cooperate by presenting a review of college life—"Manhattanville, Then and Now"—as their class entertainment. It seemed to us, as we watched their performance, that they had successfully caught the meaning of fun in our college life—a necessary supplement to work, and something to be made the most of when the opportunity is given.

On the hockey field the Class of '39 commenced what promises to be an enviable athletic record, by winning two out of three games. Look to your laurels, upper classmen. We herald the coming of a victory class.

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

ONCE again the Student Government Committee has piloted the college through a successful and pleasant scholastic year. Under the capable and tactful guidance of Dora Gallagher, president of the Senior Class, assisted by Mary Mooney, vice-president of the Senior Class, and the presidents of the three lower classes, Manhattanville as a body has held to its former high standards. Because of the competent leadership of the Student Government Committee, the welfare of the college is assured. They rule with a light but firm hand, and discharge their duties so well that it really is a student government. They are true representatives of the student body, as well as a strong force in college life.

Student Government is assisted by the Welfare Committee, in which the Faculty and the students cooperate in working for the general good of the college. This year the Committee was composed of the following: Mother O'Byrne; Dean of the College and Chairman of the Committee; Mother Saul, Mother LeCroix, Mother Keyes, Mother Schroen, Mother Williams, Mother Patterson, Dora Gallagher, Peggy Krull, Ruth Hourigan, Genevieve O'Malley, Sara Brady and Marion Sullivan.

CATHOLIC ACTION COMMITTEE

CATHOLIC ACTION

CATHOLIC ACTION at Manhattanville has been a growing institution. At its inception, the college was organized under one leader. The second stage saw the extension of the activity by means of a committee, while the aim of this year's platform was the participation of the whole college and the universality of Catholic Action. As in former years, forums were held monthly. The Chairman, Mary Josephine Houlihan, presided over forums on Catholic Citizenship, Pacifism, Catholic Literature, and Legislation. Members of the student body spoke on opposing aspects of the questions, while guest speakers tempered the arguments, throwing true light on the subject. Enthusiastic open discussions from the floor revealed keenly interested audiences.

Catholic Action is not something that can be epitomized in monthly meetings, but it belongs to all time. To actuate this, six committees were formed, with voluntary membership open to the college at large, under an appointed chairman. Reports of these committees proved that the student body was on the alert for Catholic and anti-Catholic developments of the year, and that a sense of vigilance had been instilled for the future.

THE MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION

THE MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION

THIS year the spirit of charity at Manhattanville has spread widely through the activities of the Missionary Association. We are indebted to Mother Saul, our new Faculty Advisor, and to Nancy Bremner, our president, whose zeal and effort have made the work possible. This spirit has been expressed in the renewed interest of the college in the catechism classes at the Barat Settlement and at the Church of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal. Catechism classes were also begun at Holy Name parish and at the little Spanish church of Casita Maria. Opportunities were given to visit invalid children at Bellevue Hospital and the Scout Troops, which were organized last year have made remarkable progress. An inspiring talk by Bishop Wade, of the Solomon Islands, in behalf of his beloved mission, warmed our hearts toward the foreign missions. Sister Laurentia of the Holy Child, a missionary nun, dressed in the white habit worn in the hot climates, related stirring tales of the experiences of priests and nuns with the wild natives who live not far from the heart of the jungle. With Christmas came the delivery of baskets to poor families, and the answers with toys to letters addressed by poor children to the Christ Child. The annual Bridge-Tea and Fashion Show were held at Manhattanville, and this great missionary venture was a big success because of the unselfish efforts and whole-hearted work of the Association aided by the entire college.

ESSAY BOARD

THE ESSAY

THE ESSAY has always been the expression of Manhattanville's literary talent at its finest. Each new number is an indication of the high literary standard of the college, as well as a refreshing diversion. In subject matter and style, the Essay is ever varied and always interesting. This year, under the excellent editorship of Margaret Woollett, and with a very able board, The Essay has pursued its literary course with the talent of former years. It welcomed a new faculty advisor, Mother Williams, and the January issue was proof that The Essay was in capable hands.

The Essay draws its material not only from the upper classes, but from the Sophomores and Freshmen, who were contributors this year. The Literary Club which has recently been formed will be an added source of inspiration and talent. The Essay, this year, will be in the International Exhibition of the Catholic Press at the Vatican, and we are proud to have it represent Manhattanville.

THE DEBATING CLUB

UNDER the supervision of Mother Tenney, Faculty Advisor, Samuel McClelland, Coach, and Mary Koppel, President, the Debating Club distinguished itself this year by the inauguration of intercollegiate debates. Debates were scheduled with Good Counsel College, Mt. St. Vincent, and New Rochelle. The club chose Mary Koppel, Mary Josephine Houlihan, Emma Joy, Claire Caughlan and Rosemary McCann as its representatives.

In January, the debating team upheld the negative side of the question, "Resolved: that recent relief expenditures will be more detrimental than beneficial to the national character," against Good Counsel College, at Manhattanville. This first contest of the club met with unanimous victory. Manhattanville again defended the negative of the same subject against New Rochelle, and again the vote was unanimous in favor of Manhattanville. The last was a non-decision debate with Mt. St. Vincent on the question: "Resolved: that manufacture of munitions should be a government monopoly."

The activity of the club was not confined to the intercollegiate debates, but regular meetings were held throughout the year, culminating in the public debate on the subject: "Resolved: that Congress should be empowered to override by a two-thirds vote a 5-4 decision of the Supreme Court declaring an act of Congress unconstitutional."

THE DRAMATIC ASSOCIATION

THE DRAMATIC ASSOCIATION

THE expert training that the Dramatic Club has received for the past two years under the direction of Mrs. James Duane Livingston at last has found opportunity for expression. The club is now restricted to the three higher classes who have benefited from Mrs. Livingston's fine coaching, and under the active leadership of its president, Marion Sullivan, and well managed by Claire Caughlan, it has proved itself to be a far-seeing and ambitious organization. Much of its success is due to its enthusiastic and ever-interested faculty advisor, Mother Keyes. Among the innovations that have put new vitality into the club is the new system of play production. This includes three programs a year in which all members take part, either as actors, directors, or stage designers and costumers.

With such foresight and ambition, the club has grown greatly during the year and holds promise of a fine future. The whole college is looking forward with eagerness to the Spring production of the two Barrie plays, "Rosalind" and "Shall We Join the Ladies," which promises to be another success.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

LE Cercle s'est rassemblé encore une fois en Septembre. Les nouveaux membres ont commencé tout de suite à montrer de l'intérêt et, comme jadis, les deux réunions de la semaine furent pleines d'enthousiasme et de vie. Avant Noël, il y avait des discussions sur les unités d'Hernani; elles se sont terminées dans un vif débat. En Decembre, Mère Lecroix a été nommée Officier d'Academie par le gouvernement français. Katherine Ann White a lu un compliment très bien composé par Claire Howe. Après cela, ce sont les conférences de la fin du Semestre qui ont attiré toute l'attention; elles eurent lieu devant la Faculté.

Le 26 Mars a eu lieu l'événement longtemps anticipé, la pièce annuelle de Mi-Carême. "L'Aiglon" fut, pour le Cercle, un succes presque inoui. L'ensemble fut bien dramatique et plein d'émotion. Comme toujours ce fut donc une brillante representation.

THE GLEE CLUB

THE GLEE CLUB

THE Glee Club began work this year under the enthusiastic supervision of its new faculty director, Mother Morgan. The leadership of its President, Anne Hill, enabled the Club to enter into a new and more vital existence. The opening concert of the year was presented in November. Its attractive program of English, Scotch and Irish folk songs surprised the audience with the exceptional quality and tone. So successful was the concert that the club was requested to repeat the program at the Manhattanville Alumnae Breakfast in January. The compliments received assured us that the repetition fully equalled the original. Just before the Christmas vacation the annual carol singing took place. The holiday spirits of the singers were caught by the audience and soon all joined in the last rousing chorus of "Jingle Bells."

On Reverend Mother Bodkin's feast, the Glee Club assisted the Dramatic Club in a splendid presentation of the life of St. Elizabeth of Hungary. The difficult music was sung extraordinarily well, and proof of its success lay in its second presentation for Bishop Donahue's reception in March.

The year 1935-1936 has been a highly successful one for the Glee Club, and we feel that its excellent work is but a forerunner of future glory.

Φ M B X

Φ M B X

THE former Clavian Club having branched out to include candidates from the Biology, Chemistry and Physics departments, it was decided at the meeting for the election of officers in May, 1935, to adopt a new name signifying this correlation of Mathematics and the Natural Sciences. Great enthusiasm and interest have been evinced by the members throughout the year under the very able presidency of Mary Elizabeth Cunneen and the valuable guidance of Mother Connick.

The club was privileged to hear Mr. Mira speak on "Continuity" and is looking forward to a discussion of "The Mathematical and Philosophical Aspects of Infinity" by Mr. Kirby, Professor of Mathematics at Notre Dame College, S. I. Father Fey of Fordham University gave an interesting lecture on the relation between science and religion. One of the highlights of the year, in more senses than one, was Mr. Morrissey's informative and entertaining explanation of the nature and uses of the ultra-violet ray. The only student member to address the club was Miss Lois Miller, '37, who gave an excellent talk on research work in yellow fever. The officers and members of the club are to be congratulated on having so ably launched the Phi Mu Beta Chi on its new career of scientific exploration and discovery.

THE CLASSICAL CLUB

THE CLASSICAL CLUB

THE opening of the college year brought with it an auspicious beginning of Classical Club activities. Mr. Holsapple very graciously consented to give a lecture concerning his summer trip to Greece. This was attended by the college, which greatly enjoyed not only his interesting account but also the motion pictures with which the lecture was illustrated.

After what appeared to be several months of inactivity, the club startled the college by opening a contest for verse translations. This was followed by several meetings, at which it was demonstrated that modern lyric poetry and modern drama owes much of its value to the classical influence, and is much better appreciated by those familiar with the ancient poets and dramatists. That these meetings were held with a view to establishing such a thesis before the entire student body is readily suspected by those acquainted with the ideals and traditions of the Classical Club.

THE PHILOSOPHY CLUB

THE PHILOSOPHY CLUB

KNOWN to its members as "He Heterea," the Philosophy Club has, in the space of one short year, developed from the status of an idea into a very real and active organism in college affairs. After the members had spent the summer reading Watkin's "Philosophy of Form," they found upon their return to college that they could come to no agreement on the burning question of the validity of the Idea of Spiritual Matter. In subsequent meetings this problem resolved itself into a discussion of the Principle of Individuation, and Dr. Esdaile Byles finally clarified it by his explanation on St. Thomas in relation to this subject. With the generous assistance of Mother Keyes and Dr. Walsh, and under the able leadership of its president, Ruth Schickel, the club succeeded in obtaining a fairly clear notion of the Metaphysical Foundation of Human Personality, and of Liberty. These discussions achieved their climax in March, when Father Gerard B. Phelan addressed the club informally on the "Metaphysics of Free Will."

THE THUMB TACK CLUB

THE THUMB TACK CLUB

THE annals of the Thumb Tack Club will record as one of its most successful accomplishments the Medieval Fair, which it presented last spring. The gymnasium became a fair ground, with divers booths, cleverly designed shields and emblems, and gay flags. The Glee Club furnished the delightful musical program, and an exhibition of folk-dances was given by the English Folk Dancing Society. At the end of the program the whole college enjoyed the pleasant experiment of participating in the dances.

This year the same enthusiasm and originality have been diverted into different channels. At the first meeting of the club slides of the paintings of Winslow Homer acquainted the members with his work. A discussion of the function of the light and dark pattern in affecting the unity of a picture followed. The second meeting was devoted to an inquiry into the requirements of good sculpture. The manner in which the work of Rodin exemplifies these was shown, together with the part he has played in the development of modern sculpture. Other meetings introduced novel features, such as picture slides from which the club made drawings.

Under the competent leadership of Miss Todd, and Peggy Woollett, the president, the Thumb Tack Club has carried forward into new fields its previous successes, and in so doing, has given rise to many enjoyable evenings spent in pursuit of the fine arts.

CLUB ESPANOL

ESTE año, el club ha sufrido la pena de perder a su amada fundadora y buena consejera, nuestra nunca olvidada Madre Avellaneda, quien, por su entusiasmo, interés y caudío tanto nos inspiró. Hoy tenemos el gusto de trabajar bajo la dirección de la señorita Mercedes de Arango, quien toma gran interés en las actividades de esta organización.

La fiesta principal del club fue el carnaval que se celebró el veinticinco de febrero. Nuestra presidenta, Betty Callahan, que con tanto celo ayudó a organizar esta fiesta, tuvo que ausentarse, lo que fue lamentado por todas. La primera vice-presidenta, Emma Joy, la reemplazó de reina. El ambiente era típico español, producido por confetti, cintas de colores españoles, y banderas. La orquesta contribuyó a producir este efecto con sus boleros y tangos. Como todo el college estaba en trajes de fantasía, hubo desfile general para elegir el traje más típico, resultando en la elección de Mary Elizabeth Cuneen. La reina la nombró su sucesora y le dio un regalo. Todos se retiraron satisfechísimas del éxito obtenido por el club y felicitando calurosamente a los oficiales.

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

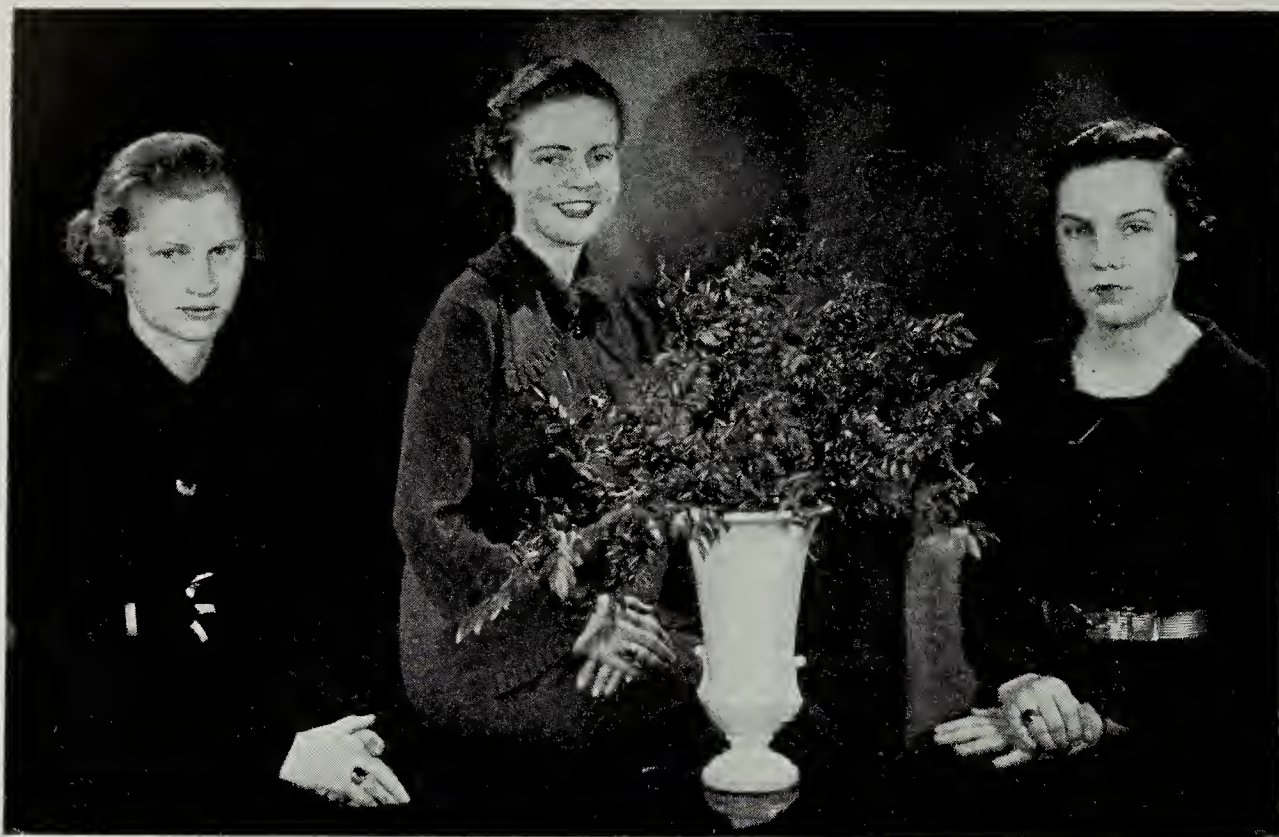

THE Social Science Club, which was formed last year, has now completed its organization with the drawing-up and ratification of its constitution. Meanwhile the club has become increasingly active, testifying to the spirited interest of its officers. Many prominent guest speakers have addressed the club this year. Judge Allen spoke on Crime and Juvenile Delinquency, citing examples drawn from his interesting experiences on the bench of the Court of General Sessions. Later on in the winter Dr. Justin Moore of the College of the City of New York described conditions in Mexico from a religious, political, social and geographic outlook. Mme. von Wharton, a former student of the Sacred Heart, discussed Austria and her late chancellor, Dollfuss, telling us of the existing political conditions in that country. This proved to be one of the most interesting lectures delivered at the college this year. Mr. Frederick A. Moran, Executive Director of the Division of Parole of New York State, spoke on the Parole System and its value to society.

THE PITCH PIPE CLUB
Left to right—Claire Caughlan, President; Suzette Schwiers, Vice-President.

THE PITCH PIPE CLUB

ALTHOUGH still in its infancy, the Pitch Pipe Club promises to continue its appeal to the music enthusiasts of Manhattanville. This year it was proud to have Mother Morgan as its faculty advisor, and Claire Caughlan as its able president. The meetings are held monthly, at which individual talent is displayed. At these times also the study of well-known composers and musicians widens the music knowledge of the members. Very often notable guests are present who have distinguished themselves in the field of music.

IL CIRCOLO ITALIANO

QUEST'ANNO il Circolo si è associato alla Federazione di Circoli Italiani con centro alla Casa italiana di "Columbia University." Accettando il le invito del signor Prezzolini, professore d'italiano a Columbia e direttore della Casa italiana, la nostra presidente, Emma Joy, è andata a un pranzo alla Casa italiana in compagnia di molti altri giovani, tutti presidenti di circoli italiani, adunati dal signor Prezzolini collo scopo di promuovere la Federazione.

Ogni mese riceviamo un periodico che ci mette al corrente degli affari italiani, qui e al di fuori. L'abbonamento ci dà il diritto di servirci della bellissima Biblioteca italiana e di assistere alle varie attività della Federazione, tra altre, operette, letture, cinematografi, e banchetti. Speriamo che tutte tireranno profitto da questa fonte abbondante di divertimento, d'interesse e di studio.

Verso la fine dell'anno scolastico le studenti delle classi superiori prenderanno parte in un dibattito sulla presente politica italiana per l'edificazione di tutte quelle che le capiranno.

THE CHOIR

THIS year the College Choir has given great impetus to the liturgical movement sponsored by the Catholic Action Committee. During the Forty Hours' Devotion, the college and the choir united in singing the Mass, and evoked the well-merited praise of Reverend Mother. The progress of the choir has been rapid under the able direction of Mother Smith and the enthusiastic leadership of Rita McCann. Mother Morgan has lent invaluable assistance by helping the choir to unite some degree of artistic skill with devotion in singing.

Weekly practices, daily benedictions during May and October, have shown that the members of the choir have been most interested and responsive. It is their hope that the High Mass on Sunday will become more and more a source of inspiration and prayer.

The choir takes this opportunity to thank Mothers Smith and Morgan and to express their sincere appreciation to all to whom the success of the choir is due.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

THE Athletic Association was very proud to welcome this year their new director, Miss Betty Sherwood, of the Class of '32, who received her M.A. in Physical Education at Columbia. Through her interested supervision, and with the help of Mother Schroen, as Faculty Advisor, Margie DeLone, president of the Athletic Association, and Peggy Krull, manager, have greatly increased the interest of the college in athletics, and many new suggestions have been actualized.

Interclass hockey and basketball games were scheduled for their respective seasons. Competitive feeling was aroused at an early date, and class squads were formed, causing the games to be played by teams keenly interested and well-practiced. The intercollegiate sport schedule was larger than usual, and the varsities kept up the standard of other years.

Miss Sherwood introduced the very enjoyable game of badminton, and indoor volley ball became the way of spending a rainy day hockey period. Ping-pong and bowling were not forgotten, and the Athletic Association formulated a varied program for the spring season, including tennis, baseball and archery, volley ball, swimming and badminton. The college owes a vote of thanks to the Athletic Association for the many new and interesting ideas that have been actualized this year.

VARSITY HOCKEY

ALTHOUGH marred by a delayed start and a disheartening setback in the first contest, our fall athletic season swept on to a brilliant conclusion. We anticipated exciting tilts with New College, Merion Cricket Club, and the Long Island Association, but inclement weather forced their cancellation. The North Jersey eleven again proved our nemesis when, in the opening game of the season, they emerged victorious in the closing minutes of play. True to Manhattanville tradition, the Red and White, with undaunted courage, engaged their two remaining opponents and registered glorious victories over Westchester Club and William and Mary College, which compensated in a great measure for the disappointments of the early part of the season.

Our best efforts were expended in subduing the two teams new to our schedule. The game with William and Mary was regarded as the most colorful one of the year. A free-scoring engagement on our part, excitement ran high as the ball was passed with lightning-like rapidity down the field, through the defense of the gold-clad Southerners and into the goal. All acknowledged our one-point victory over the Westchester Club as splendid, as our speed was retarded by a slippery field and pouring rain.

The schedule of games was as follows:

North Jersey, 3	Manhattanville, 2
Westchester Club, 0	Manhattanville, 1
William and Mary, 0	Manhattanville, 8

Varsity letters were awarded to the following:

MARION SULLIVAN and RITA McCANN	Center Forward
MARY COHALAN	Right Wing
LOUISA BYLES	Left Wing
PEGGY KRULL	Right Inner
ALBERTA CONWAY	Left Inner
HELEN CUSICK (Captain)	Center Half
BETTY RAFTER	Left Half
MARIBETH TOBIN	Right Half
MARGIE DELONE	Left Fullback
NANCY BREMNER	Right Fullback
JEAN McCLATCHY	Goal Keeper

Varsity Basketball Team

VARSITY BASKETBALL

THE Varsity Basketball Team proved equal to an unusually full schedule this year. Although several of the games were closely contested, at half time Manhattanville rooters were confident of victory, relying on the fighting spirit and the superior ability of the team. And to the infinite saitsfaction of all, the team emerged victorious from all of the games played.

Our meeting with Mt. St. Joseph, on our court, and the game with Rosemont in Philadelphia were the most interesting encounters of the season. Mt. St. Joseph brought their second team with them, and this was the first outside contest for the Manhattanville seconds. The Rosemont game re-established relations that had been broken off some years ago. As one-half of the game was to be played according to the new two-division rules, there was some doubt as to the outcome. But Manhattanville, with speedy passwork and excellent cooperation, upheld the traditions of the "victory team." The final record for the season gave Manhattanville thirty-one consecutive victories over a four-year period. And, although the team is losing five of its most valuable players, the success of the second team in its games with Nassau Collegiate Center and Mt. St. Joseph augurs well for the future.

The schedule of games was as follows:

Alumnae, 20	Manhattanville, 45
New College, 25	Manhattanville, 29
Rider College, 22	Manhattanville, 31
William and Mary, 22	Manhattanville, 29
Mt. St. Joseph, 6	Manhattanville, 35
Mt. St. Joseph 2nds, 6	Manhattanville 2nds, 22
Rosemont, 26	Manhattanville, 32
St. Joseph, 14	Manhattanville, 27
Nassau Collegiate Center, 23	Manhattanville 2nds, 26
N. Y. U. Physical Education, 25	Manhattanville, 34

Varsity letters were awarded to the following:

MARION SULLIVAN (Captain)	Right Forward
MARJORIE POWERS	Left Forward
MARGIE DELONE	Jump Center
MARY COHALAN and PEGGY KRULL	Side Center
JEANNE LANTRY and BETTY RAFTER	Right Guard
RITA McCANN and BETTY O'DONOGHUE	Left Guard

THE SWIMMING CLUB

THE SWIMMING CLUB

THE division of the membership for the Swimming Club into two classes has been an incentive to everyone this year. Many Freshmen are far on their way to admission, and interest in swimming is becoming more general. Of the four meets to be held this year, two have already taken place. The Freshmen triumphed in almost all the events of the first meet, which included fifty-yard free-style race, diving, the crawl for form and an obstacle race.

During the winter season, the Sophomores worked their way up and in the second meet they were the victors. A considerable improvement was shown in diving. The Swimming Club, not content with fostering the interest of the college by inter-class meets, sponsored an exhibition of swimming and diving by the New York University swimming team.

Varsity Tennis Squad

VARSITY TENNIS

The Varsity Tennis Team last year was composed of:

MONA SCHMID

GENEVIEVE O'MALLEY

PEGGY KRULL

MARGUERITE DELONE

CONSTANCE DILLON, Captain

Only three matches were scheduled, and Manhattanville scored only one victory out of the three. We won against Hunter College, 4-1, but William and Mary defeated us, 3-0, as did Mt. St. Joseph, 4-1. Several matches have already been scheduled for this season, and the team is looking forward to encounters that are sure to prove both interesting and exciting.

ANNUAL RETREAT GIVEN BY FATHER McNAMEE, S.J.

April 3rd—The Manhattanville Annual Retreat which began on Tuesday evening and closed on Saturday morning with Benediction and the Apostolic Blessing, provided for the entire student body a three-day period of prayer and meditation. Father McNamee was an eloquent orator, and his sermons held the deep attention of the College.

April 11th—On Thursday evening the Spanish Club presented the production, "El Viaje del Alma," in the Little Theatre. The play, which deals with the wanderings and temptations of the human soul, was ably enacted by the students of the Spanish classes.

Reverend Mother General's Feast

May 1st—The traditional Congé in honor of Mother General's Feast was commemorated by the presentation of the Dramatic Club of "Riders to the Sea" and "Seven Women." In the afternoon the gymnasium of the Benziger building was mysteriously converted into a medieval town. Folk dancing was exhibited by Miss Gadd and her group.

ANNUAL TEA DANCE HELD AT PIERRE'S

May 11th—The yearly Tea Dance of the College took place at Pierre's on Saturday afternoon. The subscription list was unusually large this year, and each class was well represented. Benn Cutler and his orchestra were essential factors in making the dance one of the most successful ever held.

May 16—A tea sponsored by Reverend Mother Dammann in honor of the Children of Mary was held in the Lounge Room of the Benziger building at four o'clock.

May 18th—On Saturday afternoon the Juniors entertained the Graduating Class at a theatre party. They attended the production "Kind Lady" at the 49th Street Theatre.

May 19th—Members of the Spanish Club and students of Spanish who are distinguished for their excellence in studies were honored at a dinner under the auspices of El Club Espanol at Farno's on Sunday afternoon.

May 25th—A clear, warm afternoon favored the Alumnae Baby party which took place on the campus. Children of all ages, the college students, and "old grads" joined together for a carefree Congé.

May 29—A shower and tea in honor of Miss Williams, the Athletic Coach, was held in the Lounge Room on Wednesday afternoon. An exquisite silver tea service was presented to her by the college.

In the evening the Freshman Class entertained the Seniors at the traditional picnic supper at Libanus.

Seniors Honored at Luncheon at Sherry's

May 30th—The annual luncheon tendered the graduating class by the Sophomores was held at Sherry's on Saturday. Numerous theatre parties followed the luncheon.

A concert given by the Pius X School of Liturgical Music was broadcast over a nationwide hook-up on Ascension Thursday. Great acclaim was accorded the Choir for their superb rendition.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK BIDS ADIEU TO SENIORS

June 2nd—Commencement Week formally opened on Sunday morning with the Missa Cantata at which the Reverend Father Phelan of Toronto University delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon. Immediately following this, the traditional Daisy Chain was carried on the shoulders of the graduates along the curving paths of the campus. They were met by their sister class, the Sophomores, to whom the Chain was then transferred amidst much ceremony.

Among those who witnessed the colorful proceedings were parents and friends of the Graduates, the Faculty, and many eminent personages of the Clergy.

June 3rd—On Monday a meeting of the Alumnae was held, followed by luncheon and a presentation of the Senior Class Play. In the evening the Juniors prophesied the future of each Senior, after which the Senior Class bequeathed their possessions to the entire college.

June 4th—Field Day, of which the Freshmen were the victors by one point, took place on Tuesday morning. The Banquet tendered the Seniors of every Commencement Week by Reverend Mother was held that evening, immediately preceding the Sophomore Serenades.

June 5th—The Commencement Day exercises were presided over by His Eminence, Cardinal Hayes, who conferred the Degrees on the graduates. The Address was delivered by Mr. Thomas Woodlock. The formal ceremonies concluded with the Cardinal's Blessing and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Sept. 23rd—The preliminary event of the September term was a series of teas given by Reverend Mother Bodkin in honor of every class. These teas were held in the Reading Room of Manhattanville.

Hazing Week Concludes With Junior Tea

Oct. 3rd—The period of hazing which began on Monday was concluded today, to the great joy of the harassed Freshmen, and their pride was assuaged by the Juniors, who honored them at tea in the Lounge.

In the evening "House Warming" took place. All the rooms were attractively decorated and won the admiration of all the guests.

Oct. 8th—An entertainment was given in the Little Theatre of Manhattanville, the proceeds of which were given to the Girl Scouts. The stage represented a broadcasting studio during an Amateur Hour. The skits, of which there were many types, included a "Floradora Chorus," a "Bicycle Built for One," ridden by Mary Archer and Maria Hogan, and the "Songbird of the Air," represented by Rita Kavanagh, who was unanimously judged the winner.

ALUMNAE DANCE FOR SENIORS GAY FETE

Oct. 18th—The King Cole Room of the St. Regis Hotel was the scene of the festive Alumnae party honoring the Class of 1936. This was the first time that such a function had ever been held, and its brilliant success warranted that it be made an annual affair.

Oct. 28th—The Senior Class were hostesses to the College at a Halloween party Monday evening. After a gruesome journey through the heretofore untraversed sections of the cellar, the guests attended a humorous presentation in the Benziger Building. Refreshments concluded the evening.

Padraic Colum Addresses Students

Oct. 30th—On Monday evening the college was privileged to hear Padraic Colum. During the course of the program he gave several readings from his well-known poems.

Nov. 6th—The Freshman Class entertained the College in the Little Theatre at a humorous fashion show which illustrated the changing trends in clothes since the beginning of the Nineteenth Century.

DRAMATIC ASSOCIATION PRESENTS THREE PLAYS

Nov. 20th—Under the auspices of the Dramatic Association three plays, "The Spell," "Culbin Sands," and "Bakers' Dozen," were enacted before a large audience in the Little Theatre. Each production was a marked success and gave evidence

Dec. 6th—On Friday evening the Chemistry Club made a visit to the Hayden Planetarium, which proved most interesting as well as educational.

Bishop Wade Addresses College

Dec. 10th—On Tuesday Manhattanville was honored by the presence of Bishop Wade of the Solomon Islands, who addressed the students in the Assembly Room. He related many fascinating tales and held the deep attention of his inspired listeners.

Catholic Action Group Holds Peace Forum

Dec. 10th—Manhattanville was privileged in having as guest speakers at the Catholic Action Forum the Reverend Father Thorning of George-of careful technical supervision. Particularly outstanding were the performances of Genevieve O'Malley and Dorothy Sinclair, members of the cast of "Culbin Sands," and of Clorinda Clarke, of the cast of "Bakers' Dozen."

Dec. 4th—The Sophomores furnished the College an evening of hilarious entertainment in their efforts to "Adjust the Unadjusted Girl." The play, which dealt with problems confronting every newcomer to college, was very well constructed, and thoroughly enjoyed. Appetizing refreshments were served in the Benziger Building following the program.

town University and Mr. Wilberforce of the British Foreign Service Office. Both speakers gave illuminating talks on the all-important question of peace.

Dec. 11th—The college attended a piano recital given by Miss Elizabeth Dolle, a graduate of Manhattanville. Miss Dolle's program was brilliantly rendered and thoroughly appreciated by an enthusiastic audience.

Dec. 16th—The Little Theatre was filled to capacity on Monday evening, when the screen version of "So Red the Rose" was presented for the benefit of the Missions.

Dec. 17th—Manhattanville was again honored by a distinguished Alumna in the person of Miss Hildreth Mièrè, who is renowned for her outstanding murals. She delivered an interesting lecture on the technique of mural decoration.

Dec. 19th—On Thursday the student body met in formal array to tender Christmas Wishes to Reverend Mother Bodkin. Three picturesque tableaux were presented and the ceremony was brought to a conclusion by an address to Reverend Mother by the President of the College, Dora Gallagher. In the evening the Glee Club rendered Christmas Carols.

JACQUES MARITAIN LECTURES AT MANHATTANVILLE

Jan. 11th—On Saturday the College was privileged in welcoming M. Jacques Maritain, the eminent and distinguished philosopher of the Institute Catholique, who delivered a lecture in French. His topic was "Le Chrétien et Le Monde." Mr. Daniel Walsh, Professor of Philosophy at Manhattanville, gave a preliminary address introducing M. Maritain. The attendance was restricted to the Faculty, Upperclassmen, and invited guests, prominent in intellectual circles. This was the first of a series of two lectures by M. Maritain.

Mère Lecroix Recipient of French Honors

Jan. 13th—Mère Berthe Lecroix was honored today by the French Govern for the brilliant and outstanding work she has performed in the educational field. A formal reception was held in the Assembly Hall, where M. Jacques Maritain conferred on her the honor of "Officer d'Académie." Representing the faculty, Mlle. Van de Caveye was the first to address Mère Lecroix; Katherine Ann White spoke in behalf of the College, and Mrs. Francis Markey tendered the best wishes of the Alumnae. The ceremony closed with a stirring speech of appreciation and gratitude by Mère Lecroix. Tea for all the invited guests was then served in the Reading Room.

Jan. 14th—On Tuesday the Manhattanville Glee Club sang at the annual Alumnae Breakfast held at the Court House Club.

MANHATTANVILLE IS DEBATE VICTOR AT NEW ROCHELLE

Feb. 10th—In a brilliant debate with New Rochelle College the Manhattanville team secured another victory by a unanimous vote. On the resolution "That the recent expenditures for relief will be detrimental to the national character" the Manhattanville team, consisting of Mary Koppel, Mary Josephine Houlihan, and Claire Caughlin, upheld the negative side.

Feb. 12th—After a general Mass and Communion the Student body wished Reverend Mother Bodkin a happy Feast. A group of students presented "Sanctity," by Violet Clifton, an adaptation of the life of St. Elizabeth of Hungary. Tea was served in the afternoon, followed by a performance of the Dramatic Association including a revival of "Riders to the Sea," "The Parting," and "The Rising of the Moon." In the evening the college was privileged to hear a recital by the Cornava Trio.

Feb. 17—Under the auspices of the Phi Mu Beta Chi Society, Captain Noel lectured in the Little Theatre on his Journey to the Vale of Kashmir. His interesting talk was illumined by colored slides which carried his audience into the very heart of that beautiful land.

Feb. 19th—On Wednesday evening the "Trial of the Immortals" took place in the Little Theatre, with the Junior Class acting as Judging and Judged. After a trial permeated with humor and clever satire, refreshments were served in the Benziger building.

CHARITY BRIDGE TEA WELL ATTENDED

Feb. 20th—The annual bridge tea for the benefit of Manhattanville charities was held in the Benziger building on Thursday afternoon. It was well attended by the student body, alumnae and friends. The Betty Kay Shop presented an attractive fashion show of spring models.

MARDI GRAS BALL

Feb. 25th—The first Mardi Gras Ball to be held at Manhattanville was sponsored by members of the Spanish Club on Tuesday evening. Miss Emma Joy presided graciously as Queen of the Festival, and the prize for the best costume was awarded to Miss Mary Elizabeth Cuneen, who was, for the evening, a dazzling senorita. Isabelle McCafferty and Carmen Rubert entertained the guests with an exhibition dance. Refreshments were served and the whole college danced to the strains of a Spanish orchestra.

Feb. 27th—On Thursday evening, Manhattanville was privileged to hear Madame Leune speak on Paul Bourget, in the Little Theatre. Great enthusiasm was evinced by those who attended, and Madame Leune's speech was generously applauded.

ANNUAL RETREAT

March 3rd — The annual retreat opened on Tuesday evening with Father Phelan, the eminent theologian from Toronto University as the retreat-master. It was concluded Saturday morning, March 7th.

CLASS GAMES

March 19th — On Thursday, the inter-class basketball games were begun. The first game of the series was the Senior-Sophomore, with the Sophomores emerging as victors. Within a week, the Seniors were eliminated from the tournament, while the remaining three classes were tied. After several exciting contests, the cup game was played off on Friday, April 3rd, between the Freshmen and the Juniors, with the former finally triumphing in the race for the cup.

TRADITIONAL TREE PLANTING EXERCISES

March 31—On Tuesday afternoon the Student Body attended the Senior Tree Planting exercises. Among those present were members of the Board of Trustees and the Faculty. At the close of the ceremonies, Mother Dammann announced the recent decision of the trustees to erect a new building opposite the chapel. The site was blessed and the first spadeful of earth was turned.

TOWER GOES TO PRESS

April 1st—Thus ends the first issue of the Manhattanville Journal.

ANNUAL HOCKEY BANQUET HELD BEFORE THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS

At the annual hockey banquet, which took place before the Thanksgiving holidays, Miss Sherwood, Eileen Leahy, Connie Dillon, Madeleine Pascual, Margaret Bannin, Margaret Martin, Lucille O'Malley, and Margaret Sefton were guests of honor. The awards were presented by Reverend Mother. Varsity members of the hockey team received their letters, and the class teams their numerals. The Seniors, as inter-class champions, were awarded the hockey cup, while Helen Cusick, Peggy Krull, Marion Sullivan and Margie DeLone were presented with gold hockey sticks, emblematic of four years of dependable service. As captain, Helen Cusick was heartily acknowledged as a splendid leader, and Marjorie Powers as an excellent manager. Maribeth Tobin was elected captain and Harriet Hussey, manager for next year's team.

ANNUAL BASKETBALL BANQUET TAKES PLACE

Thursday evening, April 23rd, the annual basketball banquet was held at Manhattanville. Margie DeLone, Marion Sullivan and Rita McCann were presented with gold basketballs, the reward for four years' excellent playing on varsity. Marion Sullivan, captain for two years, was acclaimed for her spirited and inspiring leadership, while Agnes Milne was presented with the manager's pin. The Freshman Class Team was awarded the inter-class cup, which they had wrested from the Juniors in an exciting game between the two sister classes. Marjorie Powers was elected captain of next year's varsity, and Martha O'Brien was appointed manager.

Winning Acclaim all over America!

WASHINGTON and MANHATTAN

Pleasure plus Economy to Europe—$181 with shower (Cabin Class)

Stretched lazily in your deck chair two days out of New York, you suddenly realize why all America acclaims the Washington and Manhattan.

For those two days aboard one of America's brilliant twin-queens of the sea have proved to you that the value these ships provide is something very real. Your every moment has been filled to overflowing with pleasure. Every fancy has been magically transformed into thrilling reality.

That, of course, is as it should be. These great liners were deliberately designed to bring American the pleasures, comforts and luxuries that only Americans truly appreciate. And this planning is reflected in every detail . . . in cabins . . . on the decks . . . in the very economy of the fares!

The Washington and Manhattan make a habit of pleasure. And take particular care not to damage your purse. Next time you cross, try them! Your travel agent will help you with plans. His services are free.

Moderate fares on the Washington and Manhattan bring unusually spacious cabins . . . luxurious beds . . . private bath . . . private shower . . . tiled swimming pool . . . giant decks . . . cozy public rooms, beautifully decorated . . . air-conditioned dining salons . . . unexcelled cuisine and service . . . latest talking films . . . concerts . . . and a host of other delightful features. Cabin Class from $172; Tourist Class from $116. Cabin Class on President ships $129.

Along with popular Pres. Harding and Pres. Roosevelt, the Washington and Manhattan offer weekly service to Ireland, England, France and Germany. Also "American One Class" liners fortnightly to Cobh and Liverpool . . . weekly direct to London. $100 one way; $185 round trip.
